

Q2_E

Given the results from parts c) and d), I believe that the data set provided to us was not derived from a function that is consistent with the function format in Question 1. The reason for this is that the data is widely dispersed from the average.